Airport Gets More Funds for Completion

The Nevada City airport, which is being constructed by Nevada City and the Federal Government with city and SERA funds, has been granted 20 more days on its request for a 30 day extension in which to complete the work. An additional allocation of $1,400 was made.

Clarence Martz, foreman, and the crew of 15 men started work at the airport Wednesday and the work will be rushed to completion as speedily as possible.

The most important of SERA projects for Nevada City is the airport, which will assist in opening up this section to the business man and sportsman. It is considered the best airport in the northern section on the east side of the Sacramento Valley by army officials who have made an examination of the site.

With this new SERA appropriation of $1,400 for the airport, the total expenditures upon it now approximate $18,000, of which sum, Nevada City has contributed approximately $3,500.

MRS. DOUGLAS HEADS NEV. CITY HOUSING SURVEY

Mrs. Belle Douglas, has been named by the county executive committee for Better Housing, to be supervisor of a canvass to be made in this concerning home improvement needs. At a meeting of the committee with the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, this appointment was made after Fred F. Cassidy, chairman, and Fred E. Conner, vice chairman of the committee. had explained fully the details of the survey which is to be made.

Mrs. Douglas announced that her office would be in the Chamber of Commerce, and she has already made application to Mrs. Gertrude Esterly, Nevada county SERA director, for certified workers to make the survey.

According to the report of County Chairman Cassidy, Nevada City is making good progress toward filling its loan quota of $25,000, estimated needed for home improvement. The loans totaling approximately $11,000 have been made by the local branch of the Bank of America to home owners in this city.

It developed in the reports made at the Chamber of Commerce that funds are available for SERA work in the county for the employment between 400 and 500 men at $35 per month, average.

After a conference Wednesday with E. B. Dudley, chairman of the county board of supervisors, J. E. Miller, division engineer, and Alva Reynolds, manager of the SERA, it was announced that a special meeting of the supervisors will be held Monday to discuss projects which may be inaugurated under SERA rules.

HOUSING SURVEY TO START IMMEDIATELY

Persons wishing employment on the Federal Housing Survey in this district, which will probably require about a week or ten days should apply immediately to Mrs. Esterly who is in charge of SERA work in this district. Mrs. W. W. Esterley will certify applicants to Mrs. Belle Douglas, in charge of the Better Housing Survey in the Nevada City district. A start in the work will be made this morning. Mrs. Douglas asks the attention and cooperation of housewives and homeowners. Cooperation in the task of the enumerators and other members of the committee is earnestly requested. This will faciliate their work and the information gained will help not only in this drive but will give much valuable data to keep on file for the future.

WM. GRACEY HONORED GUEST OF CO-WORKERS

At a dinner given at Gene's Place on lower Broad street this evening, William Gracey, chief clerk of the Tahoe National Forest Service will be the guest of honor. Covers laid for thirty guests will include the local forest service staff, rangers and a few invited friends.

Mr. Gracey is leaving in a few days for San Francisco where he has accepted a position in the head office of the Forest Service. Mr. and Mrs. Gracey have been the recipients of a number of farewell parties and dinners in the last few days.

Mrs. 'Babyface' Held by U. S.

Believed at large after her escape from a gunbattle in which two federal agents died and her husband, George "Babyface" Nelson (alias Lester Gillis) received his death wounds, Mrs. Helen Gillis, above, 21, has been held in Chicago by federal men, it was announced recently. Federal authorities are seeking the man who escaped with her.

MOORE'S FLAT GRAVEL RICH

L. A. Gibson, who has been working the streams around Moore's Flat, was a Nevada City visitor on Tuesday and disposed of some gold and nuggets he had taken in his operations. He said he has a good cabin in the Moore's Flat section, but he was frozen out as the water bucket in the mornings had an inch and a half of ice on it and the frost and ice in the canyons lay all day in shaded places. Under these conditions working the gravel on the streams was difficut.

Mr. Gibson has made a living all through the summer but was on his way to Napa Valley for the winter and will return in the spring. He said practically all the snipers had left Moore's Flat section on account of the winter season coming on. A small bottle of nuggets he reserved for his grubstake in the spring.

QUAKER HILL MINE PROPERTY LEASED

Ed Norton, of Nevada City, and three partners have taken a lease on the Brodt Brothers property of about 120 acres in the Quaker Hill district. They have driven a 150 foot tunnel into an old tunnel and are now running a raise. Plans are to run branch drifts in order to test the gravel. They have encountered some good gravel in their development program. The old channel has been traced for a distance of about 2,000 feet on the property. An interesting feature of the work is the cutting of a number of quartz stringers in their operations which carry fine values.

FORMER DOWNIEVILLE RESIDENT PASSES ON

He was a native of Germany, he was 69 years old and practiced his profession in Downieville for a number of years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sophie Eckhardt, two daughters, Mrs. Walter Bell, of Crockett, and Mrs. Rosali Rather, of San Francisco, and a son, Ernest Albrecht Eckhardt, of Los Angeles.

QUARANTINED AT HOME FAMILY HEAD CAMPS IN CAMPTONVILLE HALL

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 14.—Julius E. Pauly, genial resident of this place, is not in the dog house, but he is in the town hall, as result of Dr. Parkinson, Yuba county health officer, tacking a red card on the door of his home while Julius was away. Of course, Julius could go in, but if he did, he would have to stay in, and he has too much to do to spend three weeks in solitary confinement.

Being equal to the situation, Julius, a member of a Lake Almanor annual fishing pilgrimage, had his bed all rolled for the next year's trip. This was tossed out to him, and with this equipment, he set up camp in the local Masonic Town Hall of which building he has charge, and is living very comfortably.

LLOYD ROOT IS BACK FROM NOME

Lloyd Root, former state mineralogist, who was at one time interested in the old Alcalde mine below Grass Valley, which is now known as the Mattie, paid the property a visit this week. He has just returned from Nome, Alaska, having made an examination of a gravel property for San Francisco interests near Nome.

Mr. Root stated that with the new airline service between Seattle and Nome it now requires but 24 hours to make the trip. He also said Nome residents were pretty well housed, considering the terrible fire that practically destroyed their city this fall.

CHAMBER WILL AID CHRISTMAS MAILING

Mrs. Betty West, Nevada City Postmaster, announced yesterday that a branch office of the post office will be established in the Chamber of Commerce quarters, during the 17th to 24th of December inclusive, to accommodate and relieve the Christmas rush and congestion. The branch office will be from 1 to 4 p. m., on the above days.

The branch office will take care of the out-going parcel post, the insured parcel post, and the sale of postage stamps. There will be two clerks on duty. Mrs. West requests that Nevada City people take advantage of this office to send out all out-going parcels, and relieve the congestion in the main office. The office has been established for convenience and service to post office patrons of this city and surroundings.

MRS. WALTER L. MOBLEY IS VERY SERIOUSLY ILL

The many friends of Mrs. W. L. Mobley are greatly shocked to learn on Wednesday that she suffered a paralytic stroke while at the breakfast table Wednesday morning. Mrs. Mobley attended the Masonic reception to Mr. William Gracey on Tuesday evening and seemed in the very best of health and spirits. Mrs. Mobley is still seriously ill and her many friends are hoping for her recovery. Dr. W. B. Hummelt is the attending physician.

GRAND JURY IN ANNUAL REPORT

The Nevada County Grand Jury yesterday handed in the 1934 report with several recommendations. Most important of these was the advice to enlarge the county hospital, especially the women's ward, which is at present suffering from over crowding and inadequate facilities for handling the many cases which come there for attention. The Jury also recommended that the county hospital be enlarged sufficiently to house a Juvenile Detention Ward, which in the opinion Mr. McGagin, county probation officer, and Mrs. Heffelinger, county nurse, is highly necessary, in view of the number of juvenile delinquency cases in the county.

The Jury recommended the establishment of a County Emergency Relief Organization and welfare service to effect immediate action in need and destitute cases where immediate relief is imperative. The Jury, as it has done in many years past, advised the building of an elevator in the county court house. They also advised the acquisition by the county of adequate parking space near the court house, as the present space is sadly inadequate to present needs. The Jury recommended the enlarging of the offices of the Superintendent of Schools, District Attorney, Probation Officer, and most of the other offices which suffer from over-crowding. The county cemetery should be cleaned up, and maintenance fund set up for its care.

The Jury advised against consolidating the offices of public administrator and district attorney, and the offices of sheriff and coroner. However, they recommended that an expert be called in, in the matter of simplifying county offices. The Jury also stated that the grounds and building of the court house were in excellent shape, and complimented Charles Guenther thereon.

Harold W. Robinson was foreman of the Jury.

"How High Are We?" Read Bronze Plates

A U. S. Geological Survey party of six are making Nevada City their headquarters while they are engaged in running an accurate line of levels.

The levels were started from Truckee and have been carried over Yuba Pass through Downieville and down the highway.

Bronze plates stamped with the correct altitude have been set along the highway every two miles.

Today a plate will be set on the new Bank of America building at the corner of Pine and Broad streets. Another is on the granite column at the entrance to the court house and still another near the tennis court at the high school.

The party will run a line of levels to Colfax over the highway and then continue on to Marysville over the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

Bank of America To Hold Public Reception in New Home Tomorrow

BY E. M. RECTOR:

Tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, December 15th, Bank of America will throw open to the public its handsome new bank building and offices at the corner of Broad and Pine streets, Nevada City, and there will be a public reception in honor of the occasion, between the hours of 2:30 and 6 p. m. Guests will be escorted through the premises and afforded ample opportunity of inspecting the commodious new quarters, and modern banking equipment. The usual morning banking hours and routing, up to Saturday noon closing time, will be observed in the present banking office in the National Hotel building, but commencing with Monday morning, December 17th, the bank will be permanently located in the new building, where all future business will be transacted.

The completion of this substantial new bank structure marks a forward step in the business annals of Nevada City, and is the Bank of America's answer to the need of larger quarters and better facilities for a busy branch in a busy town. Architecturally, the new building is of modernistic design throughout, and is of solid reinforced concrete construction, facing 38 feet on Broad street, with a depth of 72 feet on Pine. All of this space, together with complete concrete basement underneath, is devoted to banking purposes with the exception of a store on the Broad street front, twelve feet wide and 40 feet deep.

INTERIOR DECORATIONS

The banking room, artistically finished in warm colors by one of San Francisco's leading decorators, is featured both as to walls and ceiling in duo tone panels of accoustical plaster, a new sound deadening material. The lobby is of liberal proportions, paved in marbleized inlaid linoleum, with counter screen done in dark tone mahogany of modern design, and supported by black marble base. Eight wickets covering paying and receiving tellers, notes, exchange, safe deposit and book keepers windows insure adequate counter service. Five splendid large windows on the Pine

N. C. CITY COUNCIL PROPOSES ZONING ORDINANCE HERE

The City Council met last night in a special meeting to consider a zoning ordinance for Nevada City. The proposed ordinance was drawn up and presented to the council by Attorney W. E. Wright. Its object is to prevent the future ruination of residential districts by undesirable business.

Following are some of the features of the proposed ordinance:

That a business district shall be marked out on much the same lines as now, and that the rest of the city shall be subjected to these restrictions.

That it shall be unlawful to use or erect any building in the residential district for other than apartment, tenement, or family dwelling places, and that it shall be a misdemeanor for anyone to do so, subjecting them to a fine of not more than $300.

This ordinance will be an emergency ordinance to prevent the evasion of the future zoning laws to be drawn up by a Nevada City Planning Board soon.

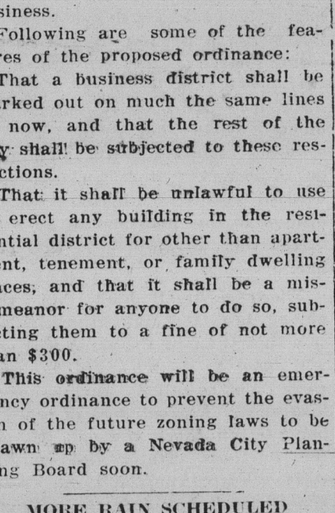
MORE RAIN SCHEDULED

California was wet Thursday from Mexico to Oregon by a storm that moved up the coast from Baja, California, according to a broadcast, contrary to the usual arrival of rain storms from the north Pacific. Rains are scheduled to continue today with snow falling on the higher elevations of the Sierra mountains.

MATTIE MINE

Crews are drifting and raising on the 600 foot level on the old Alcalde vein in the Mattie mine below Grass Valley. The work has progressed for a distance of 200 feet and the ore is showing up well.

The main shaft is 730 feet deep. Development work is to continue at the property.



TRUCK CONSUMED BY FLAMES, TOTAL LOSS

A Chevrolet truck owned by Frank Donnelly, Grass Valley trucking and wood man, was demolished early last night when it got out of the control of Charles Swisher, the driver, and plunged over the side of a steep bank between Tamblyn House and Nevada City.

The truck, loaded with four tier of wood, got out of control on the grade and though Swisher made constant efforts to keep on the road soon ran over the bank. Swisher jumped in time to avoid the crash. The gasoline tank split in the smash up, and the whole truck was immediately consumed by flames. Scarcely anything can be recovered from the wreck as what was not ruined by the crash was burned or melted beyond any hope of future use.

NEW AIRPLANE FOR GRASS VALLEY MEN

TO REDUCE ROAD DEATH TOLL

Backed by traffic safety leaders from all sections, definite plans for a united attack on the accident problem are being shaped for action following a spirited gathering last week in San Francisco. More than a hundred leading figures in safety activities, enforcement officials, and judges took part in the conference. Percy E. Towne, chairman of the Public Safety Committee of the California State Automobile Association, presided. Faced with a sharp increase in accidents this year, the conference mapped a program for concerted action. Outstanding features are:

Law enforcement and educational activitis on a statewide scale, to be formulated jointly with southern California groups.

Organization of local safety groups in every city not now organized to foster community action on the accident problem.

Coloperation with an Accident Prevention Committee for industry, the home, and the highway, formation of which was announced by Governor Merriam in word brought to the conference. The committee will embrace various state departments.

Strong condemnation of drunken driving, with a plea for a greater spirit of public reprehension for the offense; enforcement officials and judges urged to adopt a severer attitude toward the drunken driver; in order to insure greater certainty of punishment, amendment of the law recommended to make intoxicated driving a misdemeanor instead of a felony except where death or personal injury has been caused.

California Peace Officers Association and Judicial Council urged to put into effect a uniform method of traffic law enforcement throughout the state.

Stricter examinations for drivers licenses recommended, with additional funds and powers to the Department of Motor Vehicles for this purpose.

Fingerprinting of all applicants for drivers licenses. This proposal developed a difference of opinion. Representatives of the Automobile Association refrained from voting, stating the Association directors have not yet announced their attitude toward the plan.

RETIREMENT PENSIONS

Except for President Roosevelt's statement that 'Organizations promoting fantastic schemes which cannot possibly be fulfilled—increase the difficulties of getting sound legislation—, and the statement by the American Association for Social Security that such plans are 'economic lunacy'; both of which statements are presumed to allude to the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan; where has been a surprisingly small amount of adverse criticism to this plan. Even such adverse criticism as one does hear arises in some measure from mis-understanding of the plan. There has been scattered criticism from bankers that the plan would kill all incentive for thrift in people. This point is highly controversial inasmuch as the idea is becoming more and more prevalent that the old beliefs in thrift and saving for old age have proven false. These old beliefs have suffered greatly during the last few years when we have witnessed the utter collapse of every thing that we believed of value—everything except gold. The virtues of thrift however, have no part in this discussion. The point is, considering the audacity of the Townsend Plan and the attention it is attracting throughout the nation, that more is not heard in contra. Sponsors of the plan state that they expect to have 40 million signatures to petitions indorsing the plan by the time Congress convenes in January. So far no authoritative voice has denied the claims that several million un-employed would be put to work by the retirement of men now gainfully employed and who would retire under this pension plan. Some economists question whether the fund would revolve as rapidly, and be returned through the channels of trade, as its sponsors claim would be the case.

The general idea involved in this plan is excellent and it is only a matter of short time until something along this line will be put into effect. The Townsend Plan in its present form however, will not stand cold analysis. In the first place, $200 per month represents more than twice the average wage in the manufacturing industries. Far more important however, and even supposing it would be desirable to allow so large a sum; human nature being what it is and our system of things being as it is; the fund, an estimated two billion dollars per month, would not revolve as its sponsors hope. A better plan must be evolved but it is an extremely hopeful sign that anything so ambitious as this plan should have received the support that this plan has.

There is small doubt, but that among the most important legislation that the new Congress will pass will have to do with old age pensions and so-called unemployment insurance. A great deal of study is being given these subjects. Heretofor, in those states and nations which have adopted these social necessities it has been the orthodox method to consider unemployment as a catastrophy that might be insured against and to consider old age pensions as a sort of semi-charity. In the case of unemployment insurance it has been the custom to collect stipulated premiums from employees and employers, thereby creating a fund upon which in times of depression and unemployment, those who found themselves without work might draw. It has been considered as any other form of insurance, whereby individuals or groups of individuals could protect themselves against loss. Due recognition is not taken of the fact that general unemployment is a social evil and as such affects each and every individual in society. When this truth is fully realized and when it becomes more generally realized that the converse, i. e. that wide spread employment at shorter work hours means plenty and prosperity for all is true; then the problem of so-called unemployment insurance will be considered from its logical viewpoint. The logical conclusion is that any phenomonem or state of affairs that affects the whole of society should of necessity be either a blessing to or a burden upon, the whole of society. Developing this premise; a form of taxation that would not allow anyone, rich or poor to escape, and flexible enough to be quickly increased or decreased to meet existing needs, should be devised and the proceeds used to provide for the needs of all those who find themselves involuntarily unemployed.

On the other hand, old age pensions are something that can be calculated to exactness. Census figures and vital statistical data make retirement pension requirements a matter to be handled on a straight insurance basis. Whether such insurance could be better handled by the individual states or by the Federal government is a question subject to deep study and debate. In the case of unempoyment insurance however, there is no question but that the Federal government should act as collecting and fiduciary agent and that each community or section of community; the smaller the unit the better; should take care of disbursements.

A. is the same amount that has been paid quarterly since June, when directors increased the disbursement from $750,000 a quarter.

Who Said There Ain't No Santa Claus?

The Living Tree

I grew by the winding pathway,
A slender and graceful tree;
Where the wind, the rain and the moonbeams
Came often to play with me.
My voice was a lisping whisper,
But I longed to be strong and tall,
Like the towering trees of the forest
That sing when the wild winds call.

And then, one wintry morning,
Under a sullen sky,
I trembled with fear and sorrow
As the slain of my race passed by;
The winds were bleak about me
And fraught with an icy chill;
But the great trees brooded darkly
In a silence hushed and still.

Ere long I shrank in terror,
For warm hands fondled me,
And a child's voice shouted, "daddy,
Here is our Christmas tree!"
My fond, young hopes were dead;
But they jeweled my living branches
And placed a star on my head.

And so, in radiant splendor,
By the winding path I stood,
A creature of life and beauty,
Akin to the field and the wood;
And each throb of my earth bound spirit
To those gentle souls I give,
Who decreed in love and mercy
That a little tree should live.

BOYS CHOIR OF VIENNA COMING TO SACRAMENTO

One of the outstanding events of the Christmas season will be the appearance of the Vienna Boys' Choir in a Christmas Festival of Music at the Memorial Auditorium, on December 22, as the second event of the Sacramento Music Series.

There is no organization in the world quite comparable to that unique company of boys. They are members of a musical hierarchy that was founded in 1498 by Emperor Maximilian. For nearly five hundred years, up to the present time, the traditions of this organization have been kept intact and their ideals inviolate. Under the care and tutelage of the state, their reason for being has been to sing fine musical works—choral, operatic and religious—without professionalism or a need for glory.

The members of the Saengerknaben live today—as always—in the ancient imperial castle, the Vienna Hofburg, where once Hapsburg royalty trod its venerable corridors. Here these boys work and study, eat, play and sleep. They pay nothing, but they have dedicated their boyhood to music. It is the dreams of countless thousands of Austrian boys to be invited to join the Saengerknaben. When their voices change, an inevitable event, the choir boys are assigned to duties about the house, and are maintained for three years and future employment secured for them.

Crowned heads and presidents of nations have invited and listened with admiration to these little songbirds in their charming costumes, white wigs, and curly chignons. Hayden, Schubert, Mozart, and other illustrious composers received musical training from the Saengerknaben Institution. Every year they are invited to sing with the entire Vienna State Opera and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra.

FISHERMEN FLY TO ANGLE IN SIERRAS

Not flying fish but flying fishermen are becoming common in the high country of the Inyo National Forest, according to reports of U. S. Forest rangers. Last summer 237 airplanes landings carrying 300 passengers were made on the Tunnel, Monache Meadows, and Templeton landing fields of that Forest, not counting a dozen private planes that used this modern means of fast transportation. Only one crack-up occurred because of a take-off under unfavorable wind conditions. The Tunnel field, 9,000 feet elevation, is considered one of the highest chartered airplane landing places in the United States, and Templeton, 8,600 feet, with Menache Meadows, 8,000 feet, put the modern sportsmen in the game country without recourse to roads or trails.

In answer to the complaint that the use of airplanes threaten extinction of fish and game in the mountains the rangers say that ony a few places in the high country offer facilities for landing places for the present type of planes. Also, with easy means of checking and supervision there are fewer game law violations by flying sportsmen than by any other class.

Have You Heard ?

BY

Katie Lewis

FRENCH CORRAL, Dec. 14.—Mayor La Guardia, of New York read President Roosevelt's message to the Congress of Mayors who convened in Chicago recently. The President's message says that Congress will give "further attention to old age pensions."

I am glad that our government, following the example of civilized governments in other countries, has awakened to the fact that it must provide for helpless toil-worn old people. When our horses and other workstock, here in America, become too old to work we unhitch them, remove the heavy harness from their backs and turn them loose to graze and roam wherever they please for the rest of their lives. Surely brave old men and women who have spent the best days of their lives in honest useful labor should be entitled to an eual amount of consideration

NATIVE SONS AND DAUGHTERS

For twenty-five years the kindred orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West have been engaged in finding homes throught the state for dependent children. With its membership established in every community and comprised of leading citizens, these organizations, through their Homeless Children's Committee, have been able to place unfortunate children in advantageous surroundings. An expert staff co-operates in this kindly service.

That the work may proceed, it is necessary that funds be raised, and for this purpose the Native Sons and Native Daughters give benefit card parties and dances. This good work of Californians can be encouraged by the public in a practical and enjoyable manner by attending the benefit entertainments.

ANCIENT EGYPT

Nekhen, located in Egypt, is believed by Egyptologists to have been the capital city of the Pharohs of the first dynasty.

The extent of the excavation operations will extend over an area of more than three square miles. It is believed that under the ruins will be found the temples, granaries and the fortress of the ancient walled town of Nekhen. This old citie's claim to fame is the fact that it was known to be the ecclesiastical center of Egypt during the pre-dynastic period. It is estimated that until the year 1000 B. C., it was an alive and thriving city.

Another archaeological discovery in Egypt that received wide publicity was the discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamen, Pharaoh of Egypt, on November 4, 1922. The excavations which extended over a period of eight years, aroused interest throughout the world because of the human interest involved in opening the tomb of a king long dead.

PHARAOH'S CURSE

The late Lord Carnarvon financed the expedition that discovered the tomb, but the actual excavations were done by Howard Carter, who discovered the steps leading into the gallery of the tomb of the boy king. In the burial chamber, reposing in a massive stone sarcophagus, the workers found the mummified remains of Tutankhamen, who was crowned Pharaoh at the age of twelve and who died at the age of eighteen. Following the discovery of the tomb, a series of deaths among the prime movers of the expedition led to the belief that a curse was upon those who had interrupted the last repose of the Pharaoh.

The intact preservation of Tutankhamen's tomb can be attributed to its small size and the comparative unimportance of its occupant. Two hundred years after Tutankhamen's death, workers under the direction of Rameses VI, while excavating the tomb of a Pharaoh directly above that of Tutankhamen, covered the tomb underneath with debris. The treasures taken from the tomb are now, for the most part, located in the national museum in Cairo.

GHOULS OF OLD

The discovery of burial equipment is an archaeological rariety because of the organized plundering of the tombs that began at remote times. The pyramids, huge masses of stone, were erected for the purpose of preventing the looting of the burial vaults. However, they too were unsuccessful in halting the depredations of the ghouls who stripped the majority of tombs of a valuable material.

THE STORK?

Have you heard that Rex Bell's mother is in southern California with Clara Bow, who is daily expecting the stork?

FARMERS OF NEV. COUNTY AIDED BY FARM CREDIT

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 13.—According to Secretary Roy E. Cassidy, of the Marysville Production Credit Association, a check of the first year's business done by that organization shows that of December 1 the association had advanced 275 loans in the amount of $847,000 to farmers within its territory. This dollar volume of business brings the Marysville Association within the first four leaders in business done among twenty-four similar organizations in California.

Chartered on November 8, 1933, and with the first meeting of its directors held at Marysville on the 23 of that month, the Marysville Production Credit Association commenced immediately an uninterrupted program of successful financing for fruit growers and producers of general farming crops in Nevada, Sutter, and Yuba counties, constituting its territory.

During its first year, the association made 253 crop loans totalling approximately $825,000. One hundred and eighty-three such loans covered the 1934 crop season and to date $380,000 has been repaid on 143 such loans. The balance of 42 for $130,000, is in process of liquidation from sale of crops estimated to be worth, at current market prices, approximately $154,000. Loans to poultry-growers, dairymen, cattle and sheep men, were advanced for the sum of $21,900.

According to Secretary Cassidy, the association has entered the 1935 financing season satisfactorily by granting 70 loans for crop production as of November 30. "Money," he said, "is going out every day for the preliminary fall work."

BANK OF AMERICA TO RECEIVE THE PUBLIC

street facade and a companion window on the Broad street front are designed to afford the maximum of natural lighting and handsome architectural effect. The electroliers, matching the other decorations are highly ornamental, bizarre, and effective.

Particularly impressive is the huge new steel and concrete vault, ten by nineteen feet inside, separated by a steel partition into a safety deposit section, and the bank's coin vault. This is equipped with a massive Mosler seven inch chrome steel door, and the newly patented O B McClintock Sound Wave Burglar Alarm protection, the last word in modern scientific electric defense. Only one other installation of this type equipment has been made in Northern California, and it is said to reduce burglary insurance approximately 60 per cent. Additional new safe deposit equipment has been added to take care of increased demand, and the safe deposit lobby and coupon booths are exceptionally commodious. There is additinally a fire proof basement vault for the accomodation of customers' and bank's records and bulky valuables.

SUB-VAULT STORAGE

In the rear of the working space and officers quarters, there are tiled lavatories, all modern and conveniently located. A short flight of steps leads to a mezzanine floor containing a large advisory board room, suitable also for private conference. A concrete basement beneath the building is devoted to stationery and sub-vault storage; and there is a combination steam-warm air heating system which can also be used for air re-conditioning in the summer.

The site of the new bank has been a busy landmark of Nevada City from pioneer times, but for some reason, its early history is obscure. In 1870 it was acquired by Harriet Beard Fuller, who appears to have constructed on the corner the small brick building recently demolished to make way for the new building. Phillip Richards, early day private banker, purchased the property in 1877, and it remained in his estate until purchased by the Bank of America about a year ago. Among old time residents who were former tenants of the property are A Blumenthal, prosperous dry goods merchant and now resident of San Francisco; Felix Gillet, tonsorialist of the '70's and sage horticulturist of the eighties and nineties, whose well merited fame as a sort of Luther Burbank was unfortunately only posthumous. J. Earl Brown, father of Charles Marsh Brown, present day realtor, of Nevada City was agent for the property for many years. In the roaring nineties, the brick corner was conspicuous as a temple of Bacchus which many old timers will recall as a very lively abode, indeed of Victorian whoop-la. This was followed by the tenancy of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, whose Nevada City office was there for several years. Of recent times, Mrs. Eleanore Hoeff DeWein conducted a millinery establishment at the little brick corner for nearly two decades; and Andrew Larsen, present day barber, occupied one of the wooden buildings over a considerable period.

BANKING HISTORY

Nevada City Branch of the bank is the outgrowth of fifty-eight years of continuous and successful banking in the local field, and is the successor of the Nevada County Bank, organized by the Rector Brothers and others in 1900, and operated until 1926; also, of the Citizens' Bank, incorporated in 1876 by J. T. Morgan and others, and purchased by the Nevada County Bank in 1920. It is one of the very prosperous units of the Bank of America system, serving, in addition to its local community, the mining towns of Nevada county and southern Sierra county. Its operating staff consists of the following officers and employees: Vice President and Manager, E. M. Rector; Assistant Vice President, H. A. Curnow; Assistant Cashier, John J. Fortier; Lloyd B. Dudley, Mrs. Edith G. Davey, Miss Genevieve Paine, Mrs. Marjorie Brock, Robert Wilson, Robert Polglase.

SHOP WINDOWS GLOW WITH GAY CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The Alpha Hardware Store is carrying a large sign of jolly old St. Nick waving his flashlight and in front of him are a red wagon and skates for the kiddies. Just back of him are the latest in washing machines, floor lamps and comfortable chairs. The central display window carries a beautiful line of choice dishes, refrigerator, electrical appliances, percolators, toasters, etc. The whole arrangement shows careful thought for a display that will attract the buying public.

One of the prettiest displays seen in some time is in the Betty Jean Shop where distinctive formal and semi-formal dresses, dainty silk gowns and slips, purses and accessories are arranged in a most pleasing fashion. The shop will be open this evening and Saturday until 8:30. Miss Gibbons came over from Oroville yesterday with a lot of new stock for the local store.

Several new articles have been added to the Lace House Christmas displays, among them being exquisite table linens in rich color tones of yellow that contrast nicely with novelties in blue, besides some attractive men's furnishings.

Several additions in the way of beautiful glassware have been noted in the Plaza Grocery.

A particularly pretty sight is the tiny decorated Christmas tree in Foote's Electrical window on Pine street. It makes a gay little scene of winter time.

The United Electrical Company on Main street, has arranged a border of evergreen boughs on the outside of their display window in keeping with the holiday spirit. Within are a pretty bouquet or rich red toyon berries and a choice display of colored globes.

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce has a beautiful wreath of evergreen burs and toyon berries in their door panel.

A shapely Christmas tree has been erected at the corner of Broad and Pine by bank officials of the new Bank of America building.

A beautiful Christmas tree is being placed in the Rose Fashion Shoppe today. The window display will feature such gifts as jewelry, gloves, silk undies and handkerchiefs.

ASPHYXIATION VICTIMS REST SIDE BY SIDE

Funeral services were held yesterday for the late Mr. and Mrs. Darrell E. Moody, who perished Saturday night in an auto camp cottage in North Sacramento as the result of asphyxiation. The funeral was under the direction of A. M. Holmes Funeral Home.

Moody was a native of Blue Tent and had lived here all his life. He was formerly on the highway staff headquarters just outside this city. Mrs. Moody, but 21 years old, was a native of England but had resided in Grass Valley for the past four years.

Besides two young children who survive are Mr. Moody's mother, Mrs. Louise Myers, and two brothers, Charles and Elgon Moody, all of this city.

The two were laid to rest, side by side in Pine Grove cemetery.

Pall bearers were Fred Deal, Thomas Jones, Jr., Steve Mattioda, Louis Orzalli, Clarence Lewis and Herbert Skeahan.

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a funeral service in Nevada City came out in the heavy rain yesterday afternoon to attend the joint funerals of these highly respected young couple.

SCARLET FEVER CLOSES CAMPTONVILLE SCHOOLS

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 13.—The public schools were closed Tuesday afternoon by the Yuba County Health Officer on account of an epedemic of scarlet fever which suddenly struck the community. Two cases were quarantined Tuesday, with three others coming down with the disease.

School was to close Friday for the fall term so only a few days will be lost; however, the tachers had prepared a fitting holiday program which now will not be presented.

RIVER PLACERS PROPERTY

The River Placers property was shut down November 20, due to the heavy rains which brought down too much water to be carried off by the drain tunnel made in recent months to divert the water at a bend in the South Yuba River. As had been anticipated the excavation made by the two drag line dredgers in the bed of the river was flooded.

The property will be opened up this spring. This company employed 35 men. A. D. Hughes, of Nevada City, is in charge of the property.

SCOUTS SELLING CHRISTMAS TREES

A group of 10 Boy Scouts, of Nevada City, accompanied Bob Gates with his big truck into the Omega country Wednesday and they returned with 50 more Christmas trees to take care of the holiday trade. They are on display in the lot next to the Alpha store.

The money derived from the sale of these trees is to be used by the scouts to purchase uniforms and other personal equipment.

A number of local firms and business men have assisted materially in getting the trees on the market, among them are Robert Gates, who has donated the use of his truck and taken his time two different days to haul the trees in; A. Cartoscelli offered the use of a truck; Fred Conner, of the Nevada County Lumber Company, donated lumber for the tent base; another party donated a tent; the P. G. & E., provided the electricity. The boys are doing a flourishing business.

NORTH SAN JUAN
By MRS. F. M. HARRIS

NORTH SAN JUAN, Dec. 10.—Miss Lena Dahneke is making a visit of some weeks with relatives in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Mrs. W. R. Burnett returned from her trip to southern California in time for Thanksgiving at home. The Burnett and Jones families celebrated the day together.

Mr. and Mrs. George Greene entertained Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott, of Nevada City. Mr. Spengler, of Sacramento and Miss Ferguson, were also guest at dinner on Thanksgiving.

Jean McCullough was home from Berkeley for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherwood, of Sacramento, ate Thanksgiving dinner in their San Juan home. Mrs. Dahlberg, of French Corral, was their guest.

The high school, grammar and primary pupils in town, enjoyed last week's vacation when Nevada county schools were closed on account of the county institute and Thanksgiving holiday.

Mr. Kern Fogarty was on the sick list for several days but is able to be in the store again.

Mrs. Alfred Lyser, mother of Mr. C. J. Lyser, of the San Juan mine, was struck by an auto in Oakland last Wednesday and killed. Mr and Mrs. Lyser attended her funeral the last of the week.

Mrs. Ann Barto, a cousin of Mrs. Davenport, recently arrived from Brainerd, Minnesota, and will spend the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Porter, at Birchville. Mr. Barto is a diamond driller in Mexico, and Mrs. Barto was unable to obtain a pass port to accompany him.

SERA work in this community started Saturday morning with about 100 men engaged. Mr. Chas. Sherrill is in charge under Mr. Will Sharp, state fire supervisor for this district. They are at present clearing fire trails at French Corral and Birchville.

As we enjoy this beautiful sunny weather, it is difficult to realize that Christmas is but fifteen days away when we will look for old Santa's sleigh to be drawn by eight tiny reindeer. Some of us are not just sure how he is going to manage getting his sleigh over the green grassy hills, but one thing we know, he never fails to arrive with the spirit of love and "peace on earth, good will to men" to all who have Christmas in their hearts.

FRENCH CORRAL
BY MRS. KATE M. SULLIVAN

FRENCH CORRAL, Dec. 11.—After more than a week of delightful weather it almost seems that spring is here. The nights are very chilly and the days are perfect. It is hardly believeable that clauds of dust arise when autos speed by. Dust in December! But this is California and Nevada county.

A happy spirit prevails for the past week, and it looks as though a return of prosperity has come to the San Juan Ridge.

Mrs. G. Esterly, of Grass Valley, manager of the SERA, made a visit to San Juan Friday to meet and distribute cards to the unemployed.

At present fire trails are being built around Long Point to protect the beautiful forestry. The manager was surprised to find a beautiful forest of spruce in this altitude, and such giant manzanitas he had never seen before.

Many things might be done to protect and improve this beautiful western section of Nevada county and at the same time keep the spirit of desperation from stalking with unemployment, for none but those who live it, can realize the misery of this situation.

The members of Columbia Parlor, No. 70, N. D. G. W., gave their second whist party the night of December 8, and were well pleased with the result. There was a very good attendance and thirteen tables were played. Ladies' first honors went to Mrs. Bordeau, who is at the present visiting relatives in Birchville. Gentlemen's first honors to Mr. Joe Fogarty. Consolation prizes were won by Mrs. M. Madden and J. W. Culver. After serving refreshments the party seemed loth to depart and we found that we have an orchestra in French Corral, two violins, banjo, harmonicas. So, Mr. Dare, Mr. Dempshich, Mr. Bean, Jr., and Mrs. Braithway furnished music and played many old time pieces and the merry dancers spent another happy hour or more. All voted a fine time and want to come again.

We learned this evening of the arrival of a baby girl in the family of Joe Swazey.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Williams, who are at present residing in Oroville, paid a visit to friends in French Corral last Sunday. Mr. Williams is a native of this place, where all his early life was spent. He has leased his home in Seattle with the view of spending the future years in his own state, California.

Harry Browning, of Nevada City, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home here.

Mr. H. (Mike) Baker, who is employed at Biggs, was a Sunday visitor. His wife and baby, who have been staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton, returned to Yuba City with him where they will make their home.

OLD HOME REMODLED INTO TWO APARTMENTS

In recent weeks the Nevada County Lumber Company sold lumber for the reconstruction of the old Cooper property on the lower Grass Valley road near the high school. The large old house is being made into two apartments, the downstairs remains four rooms and bath and a outside stairway leads to the upper story where three rooms, kitchen, scullery bath and a shower have been modeled into an apartment. The house will be modern in every detail and will be ready for occupancy in a few days. Donald Stranberg is agent for the property.

Fine Wether

LUMBER TALKS

A man there was and he had a scare,
Even as you and I;
He sighed and he writhed and he ruffled his hair;
Depression seemed goading him to despair,
But he put up a fight with worry and care,
Till Opportunity came once more
To thump and beat on his big front door
Even as you and I.

A. M. C.

WE ARE CO-OPERATING BETTER HOUSING PROGRAM

GENERAL Opportunity is driving Depression back to his lair. You and you and I are in the army now, and an American Soldier never turns back—never quits till the battle is won.

Housing Act number one is giving each one of us a chance to do our bit in the restoration of our land. Nevada County is our battle field. Let's up and at the foe.

Remodeling and repairing of homes at this time will bring added prosperity to the community and open the way for greater things to come.

Our materials and services are Enlisted. We invite you to tell us your building needs, and promise you every courtesy and a satisfactory business contact.

CRAEMER GIVES UP GOVERNOR'S SECRETARY POST

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—Justus F. Craemer, wll known California publisher and civic worker, who six months ago was drafted by his close friend, Governor Merriam, as his private secretary, has asked the Governor to be released from his duties by December 15.

The Orange publisher was one of the original boosters for Governor Merriam, not only four years ago, when he ran for Lieutenant Governor, but also during his recent campaign for Governor.

In offering his resignation, Craemer made the following statement to the press:

"Personal affairs which are in need of my attention make it necessary for me to submit my resignation as private secretary to Governor Merriam.

"I do so with the feeling that the purpose which induced me to accept the appointment have been fulfilled by the election and that I can now properly be relieved without detriment to Governor Merriam or the interests of the state, to be able to devote some time to my own affairs.

"To my friends of the press,I feel a special obligation. Their firm devotion to the cause of Americanism preserved the state from a grim experience. They deserve high credit for distinguished service.

"The experiences of the recent campaign have informed me of the spirit of generous devotion to the public welfare which may be expected of the people of California in time of crisis."

MYSTERIOUS CASE OF THE HOWLING DOG TO SHOW AT NEVADA THEATER SUNDAY

From polo player and man about town in the effete East to a two-gun badman from the Rio Grande, is the swift transition of Rex Bell, ace western star, in "Lucky Larrigan," thrilling action epic of the East and West which comes to the Nevada Theater Friday.

Bell assumes his Jekyll and Hyde role when pretty Helen Foster, in the role of a native daughter of the cattle country, breaks her engagement and returns to her Western home when Rex Bell refuses to give up his aimless existence as a crack polo player and night club habitue.

"BOLERO"

"Bolero," the Paramount picture which will show Saturday at the Nevada Theater, with George Raft in the starring role, and featuring Carole Lombard and Sally Rand the Fan Dancer, depicts the private and public life of the world's greatest dancer.

"Bolero" presents George Raft in a role that fits him perfectly, that of a romantic and adventurous fellow who climbs to success on a ladder of women's hearts.

"HOWLING DOG"

"The Case of the Howling Dog," Warner Bros. latest and most baffling mystery murder drama, opens at the Nevada Theater Sunday, with Warren William and Mary Astor in the stellar roles.

Not only is the picture, based on Erle Stanley Gardner's story, one of the strangest mystery plays screened, but it is climaxed by a sensational murder trial in which a beautiful society woman faces the hangman's noose.

The spectacular trial also uncovers a series of other murders. The police never actually solve the crimes, although the spectator is given a peep behind the scenes.

Warren William is the famous lawyer and Mary Astor his client, while Helen Trenholme supplies the romantic interest as the sweetheart of William, who helps him on the case.

BOYS SAVE TWO DOGS IN SHAFT

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 12.—Two city boys who spend a few days visiting their uncle's summer home at Oak Valley, who were here for several days during the Thanksgiving holiday, went home feeling that they had something to be thankful for, that of saving the lives of two dogs.

Russell MacDonald, whose uncle, John MacDonald, owns a summer residence in Oak Valley, and his pal, Sherman Rogers, on Thanksgiving vacation took a long hike in the Mill Creek sectiton, and in their travels, passed by an old abandoned mining shaft. Hesitating to look into the deep hole, they heard the faint and struggling moan of an animal which they recognized as that of a dog.

They rushed back to their uncles home, and with him and a neighbor, Clarence Turner, they returned with equipment to rescue the dogs. A lantern was lowered into the shaft, and to their astonishment, two dogs instead of one was found. With some difficulty Turner lassoed the dogs, one at a time, and lifted them from the dark depths, which had been their living tomb for seven long weeks.

One of the dogs belonged to Tony Zerga and the other to G. Cartasso, neighbors, the dogs were accustomed to going on hunts together. The owners lost no time in giving the dogs plenty of nourishment to put back the lost flesh. Tony was so anxious to give his trusty a good start that he especially sent to Downieville to get the best soup bone in the town.

This is an example of the danger that exists throughout a mining section where old shafts and excavatitons are abandoned and left uncovered. A few months ago a man lost his life by falling into one about 20 miles north of here, near Forest City. There is a strict California law which prohibits people from leaving such shafts open and uncovered, but like many good laws it is not enforced, thereby subjecting men and animals to great suffering and possible death from falling into one of these forgotten pits in the forests.
